Bethel will study tighter sign regs

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Planning Board has agreed to form a committee to study possible revisions to the town's sign ordinance.

The move came at the suggestion of developer Heime Merrill, who was at last week's Planning Board meeting to provide an update on the progress of the Bethel Station project.

Merrill also offered to provide technical assistance for the committee, which will be composed of two planning board members, two business people and one member of the general public.

The study committee will look at issues such as sign size, lighting and placement.

Limited-time-only grandfathering

The committee is also expected to review the town's option of acting a limit on the period of time in which a pre-existing sign must complying sign can be grandfathered.

If such a provision were written into a new ordinance, all business signs in town would eventually have to comply with the overall guidelines of the new ordinance.

For example, if the ordinance prohibited internally-lit plastic signs, any such signs already in place would eventually have to come down and be replaced with a sign that is in compliance.

MDOT signs

Town code enforcement officer Norm Putnam has suggested that the committee also review the option (which some towns have exercised) of taking over responsibility for Maine Department of Transportation signs within town limits.

When a town takes over responsibility for such signs, it also receives

SHARING TRAILS, TRAIL SMARTS, TRAIL HOPES

Representatives from a wide range of local trail-using groups met last week at the Sunday River Inn to compile a list of trails in the Bethel area and to discuss creating a guide and code of ethics for trail users. The new trails' coalition is trying to promote the cooperative use, improvement and expansion of Bethel area recreational trails. It is made up of people from snowmobile, ATV, Jeep, skiing, biking, conservation and business groups. The coalition plans to meet again on Feb. 8 at 1 p.m. at a location to be announced later. Shown here sharing their experiences with the local trail network are ATV enthusiasts Chris Merrill and Todd Kellogg; Western Mountain Jeep Club members Geoff Gaudreau, Dwayne Bennett and Don Lawrence; Bethel Snow Twisters trailmaster Robert Lowell, and Julie Isbill of the Appalachian Mountain Club.

Voters to decide fate of town manager proposal

By WENDY HANSCOM

Greenwood residents will vote in March on having a town manager.

The Town Manager Study Committee has recommended that voters change the town's form of government.

The ad hoc committee, which has been studying town government styles, will hold an informational meeting on Feb. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

The committee was organized at last year's Town Meeting and charged with studying whether the town should have a manager or an administrative assistant. Selectmen currently conduct most town business.

The vote to recommend having a town manager was not unanimous.

Committee chairman Albert Curtis and members Wayne Hakala and Mahinda Seaman favored the recommendation, while Heywood Sawyer was opposed.

"I think it will get us into the 90s and help get everything done that should be done," Curtis said following last week's committee meeting.

"The selectmen are doing a good job, but I don't think three hours once a week is enough time to get everything done and be available to the public."

Selectman Marie Bartlett also liked the selection, as properly handling town business, she said, has been her open-minded toward having a town manager.

El Nino is stealing our snow

Weather patterns are a wet rag for winter business

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Trying to predict what the winter weather (and winter business) will be like?

Ask the Spanish baby, not the old Yankee farmer.

The Farmers' Almanac, New England's traditional long-range weather prognosticator, confidently predicted that this winter would start off with a bang -- piles of early season snow and frigid temperatures.

That didn't happen. The past year drew to a close with mild, relatively dry weather.

A big part of the reason for the unseasonable weather lay thousands of miles away, off the western coast of South America, where El Nino ("The Baby") was making one of its periodic appearances, warming the surface of the ocean and disrupting downwind weather patterns across North America.

The resulting air currents have trapped Alberta Clippers in the Canadian Gare du Nord, and pulled in a blanket of warm, moist ocean air over the New England Coast.

That blanket now stretches up to the Canadian border, and is producing a January thaw that feels more like a mid-winter mud season.

Fog and rain have stripped snow from downhill and cross country ski trails -- and the dreary weather sent many Martin Luther King Weekend skiers home early.

Ski area operators say they are still optimistic the real winter will arrive, but for the moment things look bleak. Resorts across New England, including some big ones, have tossed in the towel until the colder weather returns.

Locally, Ski Mt. Abram in Locke Mills closed Sunday "until further notice," and Sunday River Cross Country Ski Area in Newry closed at the end of the day Monday.

"With every ticket Monday we also issued a lifejacket," said owner Steve Wight, referring to the soggy conditions in the woods and the threat of springlike flooding along small streams.

The cross country trails at Carter's in West Bethel and at the Bethel Inn are staying open, but with far from ideal trail conditions.

"It's quite scratchy," said David Carter, "but we have no plans to close. I'm hoping for more snow."

Trails on the Bethel Inn golf course are "pretty clean," said Sally Sawyer. "We're sending people into the woods now. The trails in the woods have snow and running water so it's a challenge."

Carter, still hoping for snow, said, "Part of being in the ski industry is being optimistic."

Across town, Sawyer was trying to keep her own optimism up. "Two years ago we didn't have skiing until Jan. 17, so I'm not panic-stricken yet. I've seen a lot of January thaws, and this one's pretty thorough, but I know winter's not over yet." (Note: The Farmers' Almanac did predict the strong January thaw.)

Sunday River rolls on Sunday River Ski Resort in Newry has no plans to close or to lower ticket prices, according to spokesman Skip King.

In fact, Sunday River had its best week ever last week, King said, thanks in large part to strong skier numbers early in the week.

"We've got the most skiing in the East," said King. As of Monday morning Sunday River had 75 trails still open, with over 30 miles of

But towns won't see roads budget savings

Town road budgets aren't getting much of a break from the warm winter.

Local officials are spending about the same money as usual on sanding roads, if not a bit more. The lack of snow is saving on overtime-plowing costs but it really doesn't amount to much, according to local town officials.

Woodstock is already in the hole for last year's late-winter, early-spring snowstorms.

"We're over more than I'd like to be because of last spring," said

Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield. "We're a little less than $5,000 in the hole for 1994. But this is one of the accounts that we can overdraw, because the roads have to be plowed."

The town will pay the 1994 overdraft from surplus, he said, and unless something drastic happens before Town Meeting, selectmen will probably stay with the 1994 road budget for 1995.

In Newry, Selectman Steve Wight said the town has so few miles to

Fire and thin ice in Gilead

Family's trailer burns

By WENDY HANSCOM

A Gilead family lost their home and most of their possessions to a fire Thursday evening.

Jeremy Morin, Michelle Gordon and their two children, Keith, 2, and RayAnn, 7 weeks, were not home when the fire broke out.

The family had dinner Thursday evening with his mother, Morin said, and returned to their trailer at about 8 p.m. to find one end of it already in flames.

When the Gilead Fire Department arrived at about 8:15 p.m., flames were already shooting out the trailer's roof, windows and walls, according to town Fire Chief Ken Cole.

"It was totally engulfed," Cole said. "Very few valuable and personal belongings were saved. What wasn't burned was heavily damaged by smoke and water."

Morin said Friday morning the trailer was insured, but he wasn't sure what would be covered. The family stayed with Morin's mother, Darlene Corriveau, after the fire, and have now moved to Freedom Square Apartments in Gilead.

By Friday morning the couple's friends, family and neighbors had already donated clothes, baby equipment and other furniture, Gordon said, and more people were calling the couple to offer help.

The cause of the fire is undetermined, Cole said. But the State Fire Marshal's Office will not be asked to investigate, he said.

It took firefighters an hour Thursday evening to bring the blaze under control, the chief said. Water was obtained from a nearby brook. Firetrucks from Gilead and Bethel pumped about 5,300 gallons of water on the fire.

Members of the Bethel Emergency Ambulance Rescue Service were on the scene, Cole said, and Central Maine Power responded out of Fryberg. An Oxford County Sheriff's Department deputy was also on hand to control any traffic problems, Cole said.

Snowmobiles plunge into Androscoggin pool

By WENDY HANSCOM

No one was injured Thursday evening when in separate incidents two snowmobiles went through the ice on a backwater of the Androscoggin River in Gilead.

Gilead firefighters were fighting a fire on the Northwest Bethel Road at about 8:30 p.m., when they received a report of a snowmachine through the ice at "the lagoon," an area the Androscoggin backs into during high water.

A few firefighters left the fire, but returned from the snowmobile accident when they found no one who needed rescuing or was injured, according to Fire Chief Ken Cole.

The snow machine operated by Jonathan McGurn, 19, of Bethel broke through the ice and into about 2 1/2 feet of water, according to Maine Warden Gayland Brackett.

McGurn was helped out of the water by the group of snowmobilers he was traveling with, Brackett said. The town's bucket loader was used to help retrieve McGurn's machine, according to Cole.

About an hour earlier, Francis Corriveau of Gilead went through the ice on the same snowmobile trail, according to his mother Beverly.

Corriveau was taking out his new machine -- with only six miles on the odometer -- for a ride when he broke through the ice, Beverly said. He was able to get out of the water quickly, but the snowmobile sank. Corriveau and a friend used ropes to get the machine out of the slow-moving water.

"The lagoon area is known for being unpredictable," Cole said. "When they release water from the Shelburne dam, it backs in there and washes the ice thin. It can still look safe even when it isn't."

Neither man required medical treatment following their accidents.

Director asks why district pays dues to chamber of commerce

By WENDY HANSCOM

SAD44 Directors are scheduled to vote next week on whether to pull the school district out of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

Finance Committee chair Merton Brown, a Bethel director, asked other board members last week for their comments on the membership. Brown said the Finance Committee had approved the $146 dues for 1995, but he felt this should be the last year the district pays the fee.

Brown said he doubted the district was getting any benefit from a membership in the chamber. "I don't think this is something the taxpayers should be paying for," he said.

Superintendent Ronald Jenkins asked business manager Bruce Powell to explain why the district belonged to the chamber.

"We are part of the community and are involved in community activities, so it was felt we should contribute," Powell said.

The district has belonged to the chamber for six or seven years, he said.

Jenkins told the board chamber

GREENWOOD NEEDS A MANAGER

To the Editor:

As committee chairperson for the town manager study for Greenwood I would like to express some of my views. We have talked to some administrative assistants and quite a few town managers from surrounding towns, (with many thanks to all for making time for us). Almost all told us that administrative assistant was only half a job, with no authority. A town manager, on the other hand, would hold most town offices except that of tax assessor. The person would still be overseen by the selectpersons of the town. All those we spoke with told us not to think that a town manager would not cost us money -- because it would. However, overall savings should be realized. Town business would run more efficient, availability to the public would be increased, you would be able to get answers in a more timely manner and public assistance to the poor would be confidential. Our town selectperson's do a good job with the time they have to do it, and with all the federal, state, and town regulations that are being dumped on us. I believe it is time to get Greenwood into the 90s and beyond.

NOW THEY KNOW HOW WE FEEL

To the Editor:

The residents of Newry are highly intrigued by the actions of the SAD44 officials who are threatening to pull out of NOVA because of what they consider to be an unfair funding formula. If these officials manage to find relief from this heinous situation, do they intend to apply the same relief to the town of Newry? Newry currently pays $1,014,832 to send 56 students to SAD44, which amounts to almost the same per pupil cost that NOVA charges the district.

RIVER'S ALREADY ON THE WEB

To the Editor:

Tsk, tsk -- shame on you, Bethel Citizen. An article in the Dec. 28 Citizen refers to Sugarloaf as having a home page on the World Wide Web (part of the Internet). However, nowhere in the article do you mention that since August, prior to Sugarloaf's Johnny-come-lately appearance, Sunday River has had a home page on the WWW. Although the page is not sponsored by Sunday River Ski Resort, there is a great deal of information about the mountain, current ski conditions, along with local restaurant, shopping and lodging information.

Soon the citizens of Bethel will have local access to the Internet. When you log-on, be certain to check out the Sunday River Home Page.

WILD ENVIRONMENTAL THEORIES

To the Editor:

The Jan. 4 Bethel Citizen had an Opinion article "Support for the environment still strong" by Jay Har of the National Wildlife Federation (NWF). His article, I believe, makes some very broad and very wrong assumptions. First, he appears to assume that environmental groups are the environment and whatever they want is good for the environment. The groups aren't the environment and it is being realized that today's environmental movement is based on a system of beliefs, not on what has scientifically been proven to be true. These beliefs include "Nature knows best" and "the world environment is falling apart." He goes on to say that a poll funded by NWF "proved" that the public still wants a good environment. Of course they do, but the recent election was, in part, a statement against the excesses of the environmental movement.

In closing, Dr. Har says, "We've always believed that if we help the people lead, the leaders will follow." It would be nice if the membership of the environmental groups would lead their association leaders away from wild unsubstantiated theories and back to what has been proven to be true.

MUSIC MAKERS SAY THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Mahoosuc Music Makers Community Band, I would like to thank all of those in the community for their terrific support so far. Our first official concert, on Dec. 4, was a great success and we were warmly welcomed during the week before Christmas at our caroling stops.

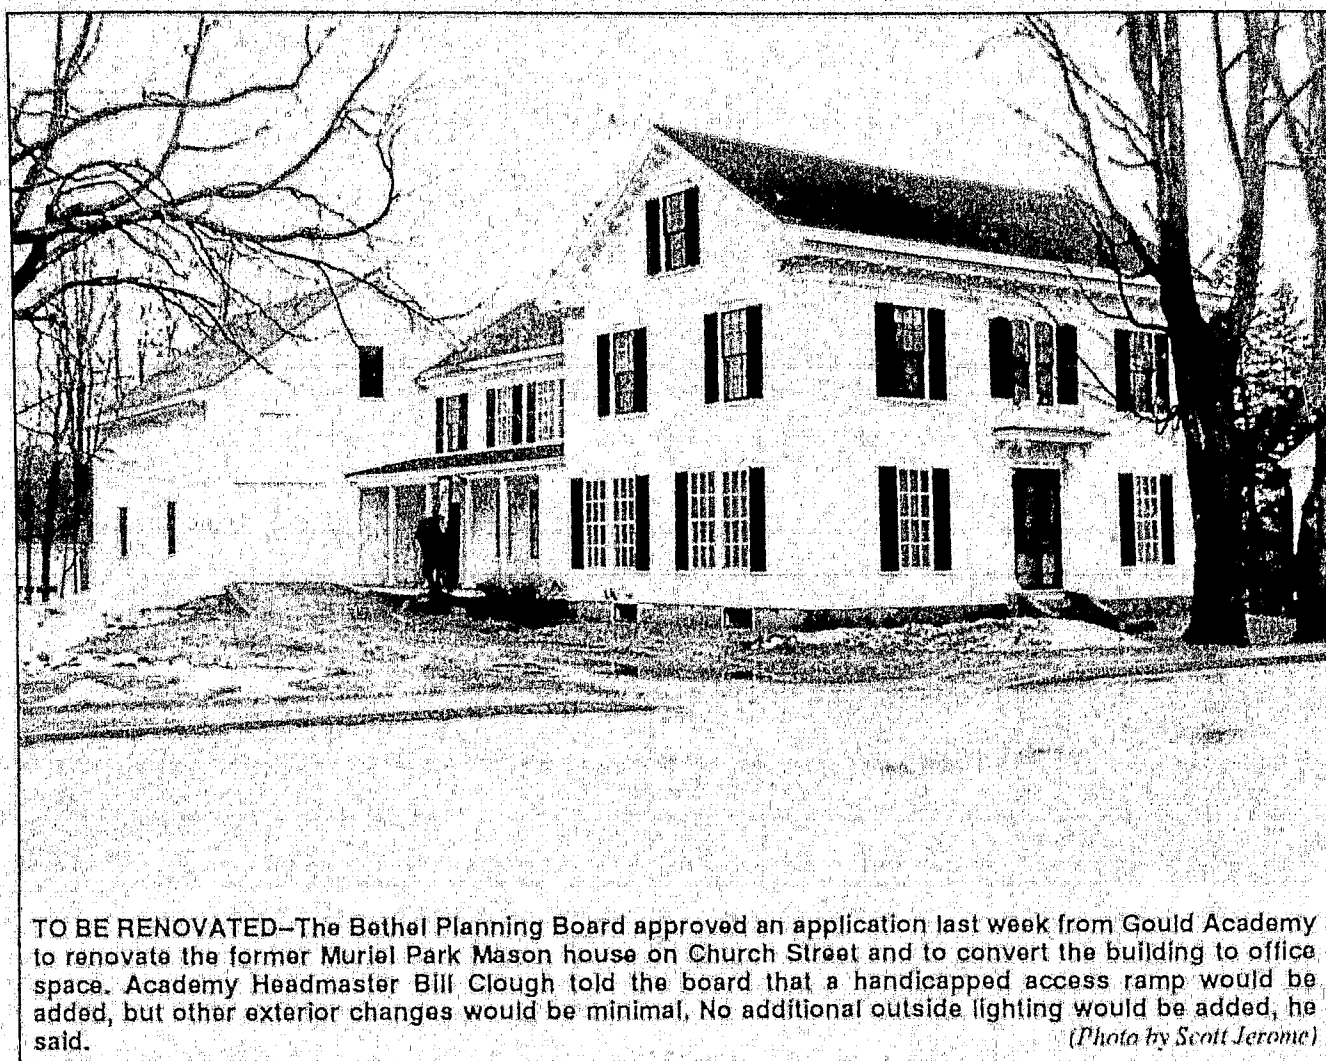

We are now looking forward to spring and summer and starting to prepare a new repertoire of music. We hope to do a "mud season" spring concert. We also hope to put together a small program for the elementary schools during March.

Looking even further into the future, we are going to work on music for the local celebrations of Memorial Day. We are also looking forward to the possibility of doing a summer concert or two in the new gazebo planned for the common, as well as participating in Mollycoddle Day again.

As always, we are looking for more members and would encourage anyone interested to call us and/or come. We rehearse once a week for about two hours, rotating the schedule among three different nights -- Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Our next rehearsal is Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 7 p.m. Please join us!

If you would like to become involved in any way with our efforts, please call me at 824-2522 or 824-0299 evenings or you can call Jonathan Smith (our director) at 824-2556.

TO BE RENOVATED--The Bethel Planning Board approved an application last week from Gould Academy to renovate the former Muriel Park Mason house on Church Street and to convert the building to office space. Academy Headmaster Bill Clough told the board that a handicapped access ramp would be added, but other exterior changes would be minimal. No additional outside lighting would be added, he said.

Town manager

"We (selectmen) stayed away from the study," Bartlett said. "We felt they should study it on their own. I don't really have enough information for an opinion. They're still trying to come up with a cost from changing the town's style of government. I do know we're missing out on a lot of grant opportunities. I always say the town of Greenwood is a million-dollar business, run by three people, a few hours a week. But we're doing OK. We've talked about (a town manager) amongst ourselves, but we still don't know if it warrants the extra expense. We could use the help, but we don't want to say we're way behind, because we're not. It's the extras we don't have time for."

Sawyer, the sole dissenter on the ad hoc committee, said he thinks the issue needs more study.

"I'm in favor of a town manager," Sawyer said, "but I don't think Greenwood is ready. I think some of the grievous errors that pop up from time to time are the result of incompetent people on the selectmen's board, and that's a tough pill to swallow, I know. I don't think having those people hire a town manager will help the problems."

Some of the "problems" Sawyer sees in town were the way town officials have dealt with Gordons' tire dump, and the recent "embarrassment" of having to send town property tax bills out twice.

"The majority of the board of selectmen think they're doing an adequate job and everything is all right and they don't need any changes, but we do," Sawyer said. "It's almost impossible to get any (town officials) to take responsibility for town affairs. ... If it were not for Marie Bartlett, there wouldn't be any town of Greenwood. The state would have come in and taken it over. Scarcely a month goes by that something doesn't come out in the paper about something going wrong in Greenwood."

Sawyer was also critical of the ad hoc committee, saying some of his recommendations went ignored.

The committee wasn't interested in asking the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments for help with the study, he said, or in consulting with a group of retired selectmen and town managers he'd heard about.

"In order to get this approved," Sawyer said, "I think the committee will need more supportive data than they have now. And all they have now is reinforcement for their preconceived ideas. I think there's less expensive ways to solve our problems."

Selectmen are encouraging townspeople to come to the informational meeting, Bartlett said.

The ad hoc committee meets next on Jan. 25 to work on its presentation at the information meeting, Curtis said. Committee members are also still trying to estimate how much it will cost taxpayers to hire a town manager.

"We don't want to hire a town manager on the hope he'll save his salary writing grants," Curtis said. "Lots of the time the town match is so much that it would be ridiculous to accept a grant. But I think overall a town manager would save us some money."

NOVA complaints

Board members also told chairman Margaret Hand to go ahead with plans to ask the Northern Oxford Vocational Area Region 9 board for an assessment reduction. Hand is also a member of the NOVA cooperative board.

SAD44 administrators have asked the NOVA board to change its funding formula and reduce SAD44's $206,000 NOVA assessment.

Board members had no major objections to the administrators continuing to push for an assessment reduction, but no vote was taken.

NOVA has formed an ad hoc committee to discuss its funding formula. The committee is scheduled to meet today (Wednesday) at 6:30 p.m. at Mountain Valley High School.

SAD44 complained to the NOVA board in November that their as-essment is too high for the 11 students sent to the program this year.

The NOVA board has the authority to change the funding formula without a ballot, but a public referendum would be required before SAD44 could withdraw from NOVA.

The other NOVA SADs and towns are SAD21, SAD43, Peru, Gilead and Upton.

Providing vocational/technical education is a state mandate. Jenkins cautioned that pulling out of NOVA probably wouldn't save the district any money. SAD44 would have to set up its own program or join another state-approved program.

Other business

In December, Hand asked board sub-committees to come up with suggested cuts from or additions to the 1995-96 school budget and report back to the board.

Last week, a few committees listed what they'd like to see put back in the budget.

"Wish list" items included: full-time elementary music and art, more gifted and talented programs and additional computers in some district schools.

Brown recommended that the board set a goal of no increase to the local assessment.

Brown also suggested that the board study closing down the Ethel Bidbee School and moving Adult Ed. classrooms now at EBS to the Crescent Park School.

Hand asked the committees to keep working on their proposed cuts and "wish lists." Workshops on the next school budget are scheduled to begin March 20.

The board also approved a new meeting schedule last week. Bi-monthly board meetings will be held in a rotating schedule at the following district schools: Andover Elementary, CPS, the Telstar complex and the Woodstock Elementary School. The new rotation begins Monday with a 7:30 p.m. meeting at AES.

Drug investigation nets 1.25 ozs.

By WENDY HANSCOM

A one-month investigation by the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency and the Oxford County Sheriff's Office yielded three arrests but less than 1.25 ounces of marijuana.

Amon Smith, 20; Robert Carey, 27, and Blaine Schrader, 19, all of Bethel, were arrested Friday and charged with furnishing schedule Z drugs, class D, according to Roger Stricker, director of the MDEA.

The men were transported to Oxford County Jail and released after posting bail.

MDEA agents and Sheriff's Office deputies executed a search warrant at the men's Route 5 residence at 7:05 a.m. Friday. In addition to the marijuana, police seized $1,000 in cash, two firearms and assorted paraphernalia.

AIDS Quilt at Gould

The Maine AIDS Quilt, presented by the Names Project and sponsored by the Community AIDS Awareness Program, will be at Gould Academy on Tuesday, Feb. 14. There will be a storytelling presentation and slide show, detailing the history of the quilt, at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Bingham Auditorium, followed by an opportunity for the public to view the quilt in the adjacent Bingham Gymnasium and to present memorial panels to be added to it.

The Names Project AIDS Memorial Quilt has become an international symbol in the fight against AIDS. The quilt is made up of over 27,000 individual three-foot-by-six-foot panels, each bearing the name of someone lost to AIDS. Over five million people have viewed the quilt since its first display in Washington, DC in October of 1987, and it has helped the Names Project to raise nearly $1.5 million for direct services to people with AIDS. If all the quilt's sections were sewn together, they would weigh over 32 tons and would cover 11 acres.

The panels that make up the quilt were made by all sorts of people in all kinds of colors, fabrics and styles. The Names Project encourages any individual or group who would like to do so to create a panel in memory of a friend or loved one. Panels may be presented on Feb. 14 at Gould Academy, or on Feb. 15, when the quilt will be on display at Mountain Valley High School in Rumford. For further details on how to create a panel, contact Pat Donovan or Debbie Gilbert at 824-7700, or The Names Project Portland at 774-2198. There is no charge for the presentation and viewing.

Briefly

Unemployment up in November

RUMFORD--Unemployment was up a little more than 1 percent in Oxford County for November. The county's unemployment rate for November was 8.4 percent, compared to 7.3 in October. The figures represent about 2,010 people out of work in November compared to 1,750 in October. The number of those unemployed in the Rumford market area in November was 840, up from October's 710. Despite the slight increase in unemployment countywide and in Rumford, the number of unemployed is down from a year ago by about 3 percent.

House up for historic register listing

BETHEL--The Philbrook House on Main Street will be considered by the Maine Historic Preservation Commission Review Board on Jan. 20 for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. If the application is approved by the board, according to commission architectural historian Kirk Mohney, it will be submitted to the National Register Branch in Washington, D.C. for final approval. Mohney called the house a "fashionable Italianate-style building." The wood-frame house was built in 1878-79 by Samuel Philbrook, who Mohney said was a cattle-broker born in Gilead. "It's being nominated on its architectural significance," Mohney said. "The Italianate form uses round, arched windows, which are Roman in origin. The general detailing is related to country estates from 16th-century Italy, which sometimes included cupolas, as the Philbrook house does. Other features include bay windows, a cornice with brackets, and hoods over the windows." Patty Thurston, who owns the Philbrook House, has also signed a purchase and sales agreement for the Four Seasons Inn on Main Street. Thurston also hopes to get the restaurant and inn included on the National Register. She plans to repair fire damage in the inside of the building. Extensive renovations to the outside of the inn are also slated. She plans to change the color of the building, she said.

Greenwood board changes chairman

GREENWOOD--Albert Curtis was elected chairman of the Planning Board last week. He replaces Wayne Hakala who resigned last month. Hakala said last week he resigned because he no longer has time for the job. Selection men will advertise for a regular board member to replace Hakala. His term is up in May of 1996. Other elections put Heywood Sawyer in the vice chairman's seat and Nancy Dowling as secretary. The board took no other formal action at last week's meeting, but did talk to Michael Szwic, a tenant in a house owned by Donald Dechenes on the Howe Hill Road, about a storage shed Szwic built on the property. The shed was built without a permit and may be located too close to a brook, Curtis said. The board will ask the Code Enforcement Officer to look at the property.

Waterford libraries merge

WATERFORD--The Bear Mountain Library in South Waterford has merged with the Waterford Library. The intent of the merger is to make the one library on Route 37 a focal point of the community. Books and bookcases have been moved from the Bear Mountain Library to the second floor of the Waterford Library. The second floor has been renamed the Flora G. Abbott Memorial Reading Room. Library hours are 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesdays and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Tax rate hike estimated at 3 mils

ANDOVER--Town Budget Committee member and former Town Treasurer Alex Legault estimated last week the 1995 tax rate will be between $16.25 and $16.50 per $1,000 of valuation. Last year's rate was $13.30. The town's Budget Committee has recommended $285,329 for 1995, while the selectmen are recommending $336,664.

Scouts take cookie tax battle to court

KENNEBEC COUNTY--Maine Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts don't want selling cookies and popcorn to become taxing. On Jan. 18, Justice Donald Alexander of the Kennebec County Superior Court will hear both sides of the snack tax issue regarding Girl Scout cookie sales and Boy Scout popcorn sales. Scouting officials don't know when a decision will be made. The judge may rule that customers will be required to pay snack tax on their 1995 Girl Scout cookie purchases. Girl Scouts in the ten southwestern counties served by Kennebec Girl Scout Council sell cookies for $3 per package, or $3.18 if it is determined the cookies are taxable. Cookies will be delivered to customers during mid-March.

Groups want northern forest protected

BOSTON--The Wilderness Society, Sierra Club and National Audubon Society are targeting regions in Maine, northern New Hampshire, Vermont and New York for protection against logging and development. The coalition of environmental groups said Saturday that the federal government should buy land to preserve those areas, which are part of the 26-million-acre Great Northern Forest. The groups also want a ban on development and large-scale commercial logging in designated areas, which include Greater Baxter State Park and the Downeast Lakes region in northern Maine, the Boundary Mountains in western Maine and the Upper St. John Valley in northwest Maine. The lands are largely held by paper and timber companies, which worries environmental groups. Lumber sellers say the plan would drive up lumber prices and hurt the logging industry.

From the Bethel Police log:

Burglars/vandals take cash, slash tires at Breau's

Rick Breau, owner of Breau's Pizza on Route 2, told police Jan. 14 that his shop had been broken into, and property had been damaged at his home next door. Police determined burglars forced their way into the pizza shop on the west side of the building. Food was not taken, but was scattered "all over the floor," according to Chief Dale Bellman. The shop's oven and fryer were also turned on to full capacity, Bellman said. Breau reported $1,500 missing in cash and $15 in change. The intruders also slashed all the tires of Breau's Jeep and his plow truck, which were parked in front of his home. A snowmobile parked near the residence was also damaged, and a stereo speaker was stolen from the house porch. Police are following up on leads, Bellman said, and the case is still under investigation.

Jan. 15

At 6:28 p.m., a Marshfield, Mass. women reported her purse had been stolen from the Chapman Inn on Main Street.

Jan. 14

At 3:30 a.m., a motorist reported a dead deer in the middle of Route 26. Police moved the animal to the side of the road, and a local wrecker company agreed to dispose of it.

At 10:46 p.m. police arrested and charged Peter M. Nelson, 26, of Annisquam, Mass. with operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license.

At 1:02 a.m., police stopped Russell Delallo, 34, of Locke Mills for speeding, 50 mph in a 35 mph zone, according to the report. The officer reported smelling alcohol on Delallo's breath, and asked him to take several field sobriety tests, which police say he failed. Delallo refused to take a chemical test to determine his blood alcohol level. He was arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of an intoxicant. He was later released into the custody of his wife.

At 2:21 a.m. police responded to a report of a woman not breathing at the Pleasant River Motel in West Bethel. A police officer attempted to resuscitate Shannon Kelly, 25, of New York (no town available). She was taken by ambulance to Stephens Memorial Hospital, and later transported to the Maine Medical Center in Portland where she died. Kelly was an asthmatic, but a state police spokesman said Tuesday the cause of death has not been determined. Toxicology tests are being conducted, the spokesman said.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity.

Snow

skiable terrain -- but the resort did concede, in a press release, "there are some thin and bare spots."

King called the current weather event "a textbook study of the importance of snowmaking to northern New England's economy."

Thanks to its extensive high-tech snowmaking, Sunday River had built up base depths that could better stand up to the onslaught of rain and fog, King claimed, and the Newry resort will be well positioned to rebuild its snow base once the temperature drops.

The resort expects round-the-clock snowmaking weather to return sometime Friday. After that it will take from three to five days to rebuild the base depths and surface conditions that existed prior to the warm-up, King said.

Slow but steady in town

Despite the resort's big numbers, "there's just not as many people in town," one innkeeper complained.

Local restaurant and lodging business hasn't dropped off sharply, but it certainly isn't setting any records.

The Bethel Inn had budgeted a 4 percent increase for the current season, according to general manager Allen Connors, but business "has been kind of flat for the months of December and January."

The King Weekend was busier this year than last at the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce reservation service, according to executive director Robin Zinchuk. But the comparison is hardly cause for celebration, since King Weekend 1994 was marked by its own problems -- bitterly cold weather and high winds.

"At least this year there weren't any weathermen telling people not to come," Zinchuk said.

Sue Burnham, at Mother's, said the Main Street restaurant was doing "as well or better," than last year, but that Monday night was "a disappointment. It's not our fault. Mother Nature decided El Nino belongs on the East Coast."

Down the street a way, innkeeper Jack Cronin reported Monday that the Sudbury Inn "survived quite well so far, but beyond this it looks pretty scary. The low temperature at the Sudbury last night was 55 degrees; the low in Orlando, Fla. was 49 degrees."

And ski industry officials have long said that once February vacation week (the next big ski period) rolls around, resorts are not competing with each other -- they are battling cruise ships and Disneyland.

Roads

plow, about 10.5, that selectmen are considering putting plowing out to contract.

"We haven't spent much money yet," Wight said. "We're thinking about contracting our plowing. It may be cheaper for the town. We're fortunate because most of our arterial roads are owned by the state."

Bethel's road budget is shrinking quickly, but barring 100 inches before spring, it should hold out, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

Repairs to a town truck took a big bite out of the road budgets this summer, Henley said. At Town Meeting in June, taxpayers voted not to buy a new town truck but instead to repair the one town officials had hoped to replace. The repair cost was about $10,000, which came out of the roads budget.

"We're keeping our fingers crossed," Henley said. "Having no snow hasn't stopped us from using sand. We've eaten up one-quarter of our overtime budget for the town crew."

Greenwood road foreman Alan Seames said dealing with this winter's small snowstorms and messy rain, resulting in icy roads, has cost the town about the same money as any other years.

But Seames said he's not ready to write this winter off yet.

"We probably won't need any sand this week," he said Monday, when the day's high temperature was about 55. "But you never know, we could get a storm every other day after this."

County Republicans meet in Bethel

Former State Sen. Charles Summers, new head of U.S. Sen. Olympia Snowe's field offices in Maine, was the featured speaker at the January meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee held in Bethel.

Summers spoke enthusiastically about his new job and predicted that Snowe would go on to become one of the great United States senators from Maine. He urged all those with problems seeking Snowe's assistance to use her toll free number and the call would be relayed to one of the regional offices: 1-800-432-1599.

During the business portion of the meeting, following a meal catered by the Bethel Methodist Church, various reports were heard.

Becky Kendall and Carl Hansen, both of Bethel, Oxford County's representatives on the Republican State Committee, reported that Pam Cahill had been elected at the last meeting of the state committee and that several off-year projects were being planned, including a presidential forum in November 1995.

The Rev. Norman Rust of Watford reported on the by-laws and moved that the executive committee be empowered to work out the final language to be presented to the county committee at a forthcoming meeting. This was voted.

Becky Kendall reported for the finance committee that several towns did meet their county quota.

Heywood Sawyer of Greenwood reported that the report on last fall's headquarters would be presented to the committee at the March meeting.

Nancy and Carl Hansen, co-chairs of the Lincoln Day dinner committee, polled the group for various preferences regarding location, type of meal, speaker, program, etc.

Chairman Stan Howe of Bethel praised last year's Special Events Chair Michelle Frank of Otisfield for all her help in 1994.

By vote of the committee the slate nominated at the December meeting were elected without dissent: Stan Howe, Bethel, chairman; Heywood Sawyer, Greenwood and Barbara Robinson, Paris, vice-chairs; Nancy Carpenter, Dixfield, secretary; Steve Merrill, Norway, treasurer.

State legislators present were Sen. Norman K. Ferguson, Hanover; Rep. Brenda Birney, Paris; and Rep. Al Barth, Bethel; all spoke briefly.

ROTARY CLUB HONORS WEST BETHEL WOMAN-The Bethel Rotary Club has recognized Olive A. Head of West Bethel as a Paul Harris Fellow. The award expresses the Rotary's appreciation for the substantial contribution Head has made to the club's humanitarian and educational programs, according to Bethel Rotary president Theodore Davis. Head's son, John B. Head, nominated her for the award. Mrs. Head accepted a certificate, medallion and pin from Davis (second from left), who along with (from left) Bruce Powell, Roger Conant and Fumi and John Head, presented the award to Head at her home. ## 1995 fishing, hunting licenses have new look Persons planning to fish or hunt early in the new year are reminded by the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Department that it's time to renew their licenses.

And they will find the 1995 licenses have a new look. The change in design of licenses is the first in a series of steps intended to benefit the license holder and also improve the accounting process.

According to Vesta Billing, director of the Licensing and Registration Division, the most obvious change is its slightly larger size. This will make it scannable by computer -- a first step towards creating a data base to streamline and improve future license processing. "We recognize that the slightly larger size in 1995 may be an inconvenience to some license holders, but in 1996 we should be able to make some adjustment in the size." Also, the license has been printed on a biodegradable material.

Another improvement is a peel-off sticker on the hunting license, which can be attached to an anydeer permit application in order to speed up the application process and eliminate errors which have occurred in the past.

Goals of the new procedures are to simplify the purchase process for the customer; simplify license issuing by agents -- aimed at issuance of a license in a minute or less; increase efficiency and reduce costs of licensing and registration.

Billing says a legislative resolve enacted in March 1994 directed the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife to prepare a proposal to computerize and simplify the department's licenses and fees. During the past year, department staff have tested equipment, attended workshops with other states undertaking similar projects, and conducted surveys of fishing license holders.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

If You Plan To Work In 1995

The amount of money you can earn before your benefits are reduced also went up on January 1.

If you are 65 or older, or you will reach 65 in 1995, you can earn $11,280 and still get all your benefits. We will deduct $1 in benefits for each $3 you earn over $11,280.

If you will be under 65 all year, you can earn up to $8,160 and still get all your benefits. We will deduct $1 in benefits for each $2 you earn over $8,160.

Beginning with the month you turn 70, you can earn any amount and still get all your benefits.

Contact Social Security if you think you will earn more than these limits.

Different rules apply if you receive Social Security disability or SSI. You must report all your work no matter how little you earn. If you receive benefits for someone else, you must report for that person.

If You Worked In 1994

You have until April 17, 1995 to report your 1994 earnings to Social Security. You must report your earnings if you received benefits last year and if you earned more than $11,160 (for people 65-69) or $8,040 (for people under 65). ## Girls' basketball

Telstar 51, Lisbon 41

Beth Howe scored 16 points Monday to lead Telstar High School (2-7) to a 51-41 win over Lisbon (0-10). The girls' play next at Jay Friday and are home Monday, Jan. 23, against Dirigo.

Leavitt 54, Telstar 21

Leavitt overwhelmed Telstar's varsity girls last week, winning 54-21 in the Mountain Valley Conference match-up. Leavitt led at halftime by 27-6. Sarah Richardson was high scorer with six points. Jana Mason grabbed nine rebounds in the Rebel loss.

"Offensively, the girls never got on track," said coach Ray Seames, "shooting only 9 percent for the night, despite matching Leavitt in shot attempts. We played a good game defensively, holding the Hornet's high-scoring offense to just two girls in double figures."

Cross-country skiing

Mt. Blue Relays

Gould Academy's Scot Sawyer, Chris Shaner, Margaret Shaner and Christoffer Sandberg took first out of 38 teams Saturday in the 4X3 kilometer Mt. Blue Relay in Farmington.

The Huskies also took 10th- and 12th-place. Skiing on the 10th-place team were: Ethan Covey, Christine Monzel, Joanna Owen and Joran Elias; on the 12th-place team, Quentin Stockwell, Amy Swinton, Keavy Cook and Ben Falby. "The kids skied very well under difficult snow conditions," said assistant nordic coach Scott Jerome. "Coach (Dick) Taylor and I are proud of the teams' hard work."

Telstar High School placed eighth, with the team of Joel Riley, Jessie Wight, Liza Fyberg and Joel Peaslee. The Rebels also fielded an 18th-place team, with skiers Tim Remington, Stephanie Curly, Jaime Orrok and Jayson Hebert.

"The excitement of the day for Rebel skiers was the first leg," said Coach Robert Remington. "A mass start of 38 boys classical skiing took off and disappeared into the woods. The first to come out of the woods on the first leg was Telstar's Joel Riley and if that wasn't enough, seconds behind him in second place was Tim Remington. This one-two finish in the first leg really should be a confidence booster for us. It shows that we've been training well."

Telstar at Oxford Hills

In the first race of the season, Telstar's nordic teams skied well against top-rated Oxford Hills, according to coach Robert Remington. "The boys especially showed promise as only seven points separated the Rebels from the Vikings," Remington said. "Two freshman, Jayson Hebert and Kris Orrok, skiing in their first high school race, showed they're ready to compete at the varsity level, finishing ninth and tenth respectively. Joel Riley was the first Rebel, in second place, followed by Joel Peaslee in fifth and Tim Remington in sixth."

Tim Remington is suffering with an early-season shin ailment, the coach said.

In the girls' race, Liza Fyberg was the first finisher for Telstar, in fifth place. She was followed by Jessie Wight in eighth; Jaime Orrok, eleventh and Shye Buck in 13th.

"This is a very encouraging first race for us," Remington said. "I know both teams can improve on this. If we can get Tim's shins straightened out, he will be one of the top contenders. The girls skied without Stephanie Curly who should also be a team scorer."

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
This week started off with the Knight Riders Snowmobile Club meeting on Tuesday evening at the East Stoneham Fire Station, with Eben Hamon presiding. They now have the much needed generator which was voted for. Bill Hunt thanked the members again for the honor bestowed upon him last week at the snowmobile bridge in West Stoneham. There were 17 members at this meeting. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Three new members were taken in. A committee was formed to work on preparations for the public supper to be held at the Kezar Lake Grange Hall in North Lovell on Feb. 11. The next meeting will be Feb. 7 (the first Tuesday of the month).

Tuesday night, Jan. 10, Eleanor Nelson attended the Oxford County Republicans' monthly supper and meeting, which was held in Bethel. The meeting was opened by Chairman Stan Howe of Bethel. The speaker of the evening was Charles Summers from Scarborough, who is the new state director for U.S. Senator Olympia Snow, whose committee assignments include science, transportation, and budget. Others speaking during the evening were Snow's new regional representative, Jane Desautels; State Representative Al Barth; State Senator Norman Ferguson, Jr.; and new Oxford County Commissioner, Steve Merrill. There were about 54 people at the meeting.

On Wednesday evening, seven members of the East Stoneham Congregational Church met at the parsonage, at which time nomination of officers was held. The meeting was opened by Vice President Sharon McAllister, and the pastor gave a reading from the Bible, followed by an opening prayer. Secretary, treasurer and pastor's reports were handed out, discussed and accepted. Many business matters were discussed. A summer supper committee was formed and plans will be made for the centennial of the church program to be held this coming summer. This meeting will be at the parsonage on Feb. 2. Thank-you notes from the recipients of the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets were noted. These were put together and distributed to some members of the community. It was voted to buy a secondhand refrigerator for the church kitchen, also to sell the little, white wood stove end heater, and a small freezer is needed. The next meeting of the East Stoneham Church will be held March 15 at the parsonage. The parish meeting was held on Jan. 11 at the church vestry.

The D.U.V. meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 25, at the home of Eleanor Nelson.

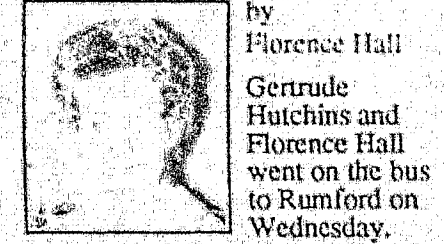

If you can keep all these meeting dates straight, you'll do well. I hope I have them right.

I won't bore you with the Evergreen Valley proceedings but will say that there will be a pre-trial conference on Jan. 23, in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Portland, concerning the sale of some Evergreen Valley Inn timeshare units to Robert Bahre of South Paris.

This has been a good day to stay in and look out at the pretty snowstorm. My father used to say you wouldn't think it was so pretty if you had to work out in it. He used to work in the woods.

Win Adams has a new job, which is driving a Pine Tree Transit van picking up people in the Fryeburg, Brownfield, etc., area and taking them to Lewiston or Portland and around.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens met at the Town Complex Community Room for a potluck dinner with 29 present. As Linda Haegle was sick, there was no planned program; visiting among members was the program. A delicious dinner was served with plenty to eat. Next meeting will be at the Town Annex with a potluck dinner and a game party. Please bring your own place setting plus a dish to share and a game prize. All senior citizens are welcome to attend, and we would love to have them join us.

Judith Grover Tent 17 met at the Grange Hall on Monday, Jan. 9, for a potluck supper and installation of officers. Seventeen members were present at the delicious potluck supper. Installing officer Sally Sawyer, Department Senior Vice President installed the following officers: President, Elsie Bonney; Junior Vice President, Stacy House; Chaplain, Elena Noyes; Treasurer, Edith Hathaway; C.M. Althea Stevens, Beatrice Famum, Verna Swan; Patriotic Inst., Kathleen McAllister; Secretary, Alice Hoyt; Press Corp., Alice Hoyt; Guide, Harriett Estes; Guard, Denise Swan; Assistant Guard, Michelle Cary; C.B., Amanda Jordan, Jennifer Stevens; Historian, Bessie House; Doves Chairman, Crystal Chase. Sorry I spelled the coffee shop's name wrongly; it is Coffee Clutch.

The Historical Society explores the past. We learn about its people, places, events, and ideas. They offer all an important legacy. Old things have a special charm. Do you take an interest in what others used years ago? Curator Larry Billings recently got a book on farming. He also gave an unframed oil painting to the society.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt visited their father, Jim Hoyt, over the weekend.

Leatrice, Crystal and Helen Chase were dinner guests of Beatrice Famum on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gil Whitman called on Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway.

Tuesday at 4 p.m. is Bryant Pond hour on Channel IV T.V. Miss Joyce held an Everybody Birthday Party for the children on Thursday at the Annex Room at the Baptist Church.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing
Phyllis Lowe called and said that the lucky persons had been drawn for her Christmas box. People who visited Phyllis and enjoyed her very beautiful Christmas decor were asked to put their name in a box. First prize went to Betty Pomerleau of South Paris, second prize to Hazel Dillingham, and third prize to Robert Burk of Poland. Phyllis had 34 adults and nine children during the holidays and put their names in the box.

Chea Davis was omitted from the Christmas festivities at her grandmother Judy Brown's. Sorry, Chea!

I ran into George Holden at the post office the other day, and he said that Thelma and he had been laid up with a cold flu. I called them yesterday to see how they were doing, and they still don't feel very well. They've been to the doctor, so hope they are feeling better when you read this.

There was no school yesterday, due to the storm which was very treacherous. Richard Wing worked until late Thursday night for the State Highway Department, along with many others, so roads could be ready for school and everyone Friday. Friday, what a beautiful day! In Maine you can almost always plan on extra special good weather after a storm.

I watched Wheel of Fortune last night, as usual, and watched Chris Primozich win a chance at the bonus round and he won a $49,000 Corvette. I don't know Chris, but do know his dad, as I'm sure a lot of you do, Chuck Primozich who works at what is now Preb's Pharmacies. Congratulations, Chris!

January birthdays I omitted are: Vic Hart, Stacy Tyner and Ann Buck. Happy Birthday to you all. Claribel Poland called and said that she had called my sister, Dotte Criser, in Arizona to see if Gary Criser and family and Patrice Dunn may be near the flooding in California. Dotte said they were inland and it hasn't bothered them.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that he recently got some material on farming in New England. Many of his ancestors were farmers. The society fosters awareness of New England heritage and traditions. Society members all contribute to the success of the organization. Much thanks for their efforts.

The Andover Elementary School has announced the winner of the logo contest. The winning entry was submitted by sixth-grader Eric Swasey--The Andover Eagles. Congratulations to Angela Blair, "Student of the Week," for Jan. 2-6. Angela is a third-grader. The Eagles basketball team has had a fun and victorious season. Members include fifth-graders, Christina Downs, Jill Fyberg, Angie Kreiton, Ben Sabin, Michael Sabin and Rhana Wood. Sixth grade players are Lynsey Brown, Jay Cole, Corey Emerson, Sarah Mayberry, Glen Palmer, Denise Scott, Eric Swasey and Lyrra Yates.

Get well wishes to Nancy Wardwell and to Martha Cronin who is a patient at Maine Medical Center. Mrs. Marie Lang is now at home and is feeling better. Get well wishes to Mrs. Edna Smith.

Sympathy is extended to the Richardson and Colby families for the death of Willard Colby. Mr. and Mrs. Colby moved to Andover from the Bath-Brunswick area to enjoy retirement near their daughter, Mrs. Judy Richardson and family.

Another four to five inches of snow fell on this area Thursday followed by some sleet and rain. Today, the temperature has risen to above freezing. No schools anywhere on Thursday.

A lone fish house has appeared on the pond.

Mrs. Agnes Lahti of Waterford spent an afternoon last week with her brother, Bill Bancroft, while Phyllis went to Norway to do some errands. Bill was recently at his doctor's office in Norway to have his ankle attended to. He had a pressure burn and infection.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gardner of Waterford were supper guests Sunday night of Phyllis and Bill Bancroft.

On Sunday, David and Norma Salway and I rode to Old Orchard Beach to visit the Brandon Salways and celebrate Brandon's birthday, a week late due to the storm New Year's Day. Bernie and Kassi Gatchell and Kaity of Portland also attended. On the way home Norma and David dropped me off at Ethel's. She drove me to Portland on Monday for my doctor's appointment. Ethel drove me home Wednesday afternoon.

Happiness is contagious. Be a carrier!

North Newry

by Gil Seeley
The Newry Mothers' Club met Monday night, Jan. 9, at the Town Building with sub-presidents Karlene Bachelder and Gil Seeley. Secretary-treasurer Olive Anderson called the roll and reported on the finances, bills, and cards sent to the shut-ins, etc. There was no new business. A bingo game was played during the social hour. Next month's meeting will be the 13th of February, 7:30 p.m., at the Town building, with a Valentine exchange. Snack committee: Olive, Gil and Karlene.

Only three members (Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley and Olive Anderson) of the "Newry Bowling Gang" showed up at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, one day last week. Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. Karlene was high on both the triples and singles. She had two spares and Olive had one strike and one spare.

Dick Clark is home from the hospital and taking it easy.

Well... The boo-boo in the flyer from Gildeden's Foodliner has been clarified, and things are back to normal. But...I think it would be a great idea to have a senior citizen day at the store. Maybe their guardian angel is trying to tell them something. After all, competition is good for business.

So, it was 25 degrees below zero last week, 20 below another day, and zero another day -- what else is new? It was 20 below on Jan. 17, 1993; 38 below Jan. 19, 1994, and 20 below Jan. 20, 1994. It's still better than being in California!

As we say goodbye to 1994, remember to say goodbye to all those health thieves, such as worry, boredom, fear, insecurity, despair, weariness, guilt, resentment, nervousness, anxiety, anger, loneliness, self-pity, hate, inferiority-complex, jealousy, and frustration. And start the New Year free!

Don't forget: January Night Out on Jan. 28, 5:30 p.m. (snow date will be Feb. 4) at Newry Grange Hall. Potluck supper, live music, games and activities for the kids, and trivia contest. "So, You Think you Know Newry?" Hope there will be a big turnout!

Gilead

by Kathie Cole
Who would believe we had a snowstorm last week? There is hardly any snow left and I can see almost all the grass on my lawn. Everyone says this is the January thaw. I can't remember it being 40 degrees in January before, but I'll take it over below zero weather any day.

The Gilead Fire Department was called out last Thursday evening to a fire at Jeremy Morin's residence. Bethel Fire Department provided mutual aid assistance. The mobile home was destroyed. Thankfully none of the Morins were in the home at the time of the fire. Jeremy and his family have moved in to Freedom Square apartments. Jeremy told me that everyone has been very helpful in helping his family get back on their feet. I wish them the best and am thankful no one was hurt.

Fabian Corriveau called our home early Monday morning from Venice. Fabian seems to be enjoying his travels with the Navy. He would love to hear from his friends. Letters may be sent to Fabian Corriveau, 004-76-5919, U.S.S. Dwight D. Eisenhower, CVN 69, FPO AB, 09532-2830.

Bethany Corriveau spent the night at her sister Belinda's in Berlin, N.H. on Sunday.

Brittany Cole has been enjoying the YMCA classes at Crescent Park School. Last week she took a Tae Kwon Do class and a craft class.

Brittany spent the day Sunday at her grandparents, John and Nancy Haines. Brittany enjoyed playing with her aunt, Beth Anne Haines, for the day.

That's all for this week, folks. Please call in your news at 836-3620. Thanks.

North Woodstock

by
Shane Billings

Lee Billings remains in the hospital as I write this. He is improving, slowly but steadily. Once again, thanks are extended to everyone who has expressed their concern through cards and phone calls, visits and letters.

On Dec. 17, Ashley and Adam Miller tested for their yellow belts in Kenpo Karate. The test was administered by Sensei Ken Parker and lasted for more than an hour. Congratulations to both Ashley and Adam, who received their yellow belts as well as certificates of advancement.

Dawn Davis returned to college in Vermont on Sunday.

Linda Tyler has been down from Dixfield several times in order to visit her father, Lee Billings, at the hospital.

That's it from North Woodstock this week.

The world about me lies in a trance of snow. I see the hills bulging with drifts. They look cold and white against the sky. How stern the woods look. They are ready, as the zero hours approach and great silence settles down over our section. The whiteness spreads and the earth is sealed, for autumn is gone.

As the sun appears, shadow-patterns of twigs interlace on the white expanse. There is a sparkle that shimmers, bringing added light.

"Oh, the wonderful joy To be young and know The thrill of a child

At winter's first snow." (Robert Freeman Bound)

What wildflowers are to summer and tinted leaves to autumn, snow is to winter.

"No more the robin pipes his lay To greet the flushed advance of morn

He sings in valleys far away. His heart is with the south today!"

(Henry Abbey)

The country is more wilderness in winter than in summer because the wild comes out. All the wild creatures become outlaws, and roam beyond their usual haunts.

Winter, like poverty, makes us acquainted with the strange.

Now come the silent days of inward living the profitable hours of meditation of peace.

Eleanor Inman was enjoying her week of vacation when she was called back to work.

John and Dorothy had visitors over the weekend, longtime friends.

David and Mary Holt of Norway were at his parents' home on Sunday. Mary enjoyed some ice skating.

I was at the hospital for x-rays on Friday. I'm still hoping I can go for walks again soon.

It was interesting to see the pictures of the writers for the Citizen. Why not the staff some time?

The selectmen met to work on the town report. Each of the three assigned themselves to work on separate portions. The care of the roads was discussed, including comparative costs between town-owned property and contract jobs.

The Ladies' Aid met Monday night for a regular business meeting. It was decided to cancel winter meetings. Names were drawn for the secret pal program. Each member present wrote their information on a slip of paper, all of which are to be typed up and distributed to the members.

The weather turned from a three-stover to a one-stover as the temperatures rose from zero to 40-plus and the wind blew itself out.

Schools closed Thursday because of sleet, rain and ice causing dangerous traveling.

I see where a former member of our community, Debbie Cantelo, just lost her father.

Coming so soon after the death of her mother, Louise Loring, it must have been pretty rough. Anyhow, I'm sure the community offers its sincerest sympathy to both Debbie, and her sister, Nancy Cross, who also lived here for a time, and their families.

Jeannette Knight tells me her granddaughter, Dianne Campbell, is engaged to be married to Shane Slicer in the spring of 1996. Both are teachers. Dianne teaches sixth grade in Oxford and Shane teaches the eighth grade in Gorham.

David and Diane Thurston and Warren were visitors of mine Thursday evening. Diane visited me and Warren shoveled my drive and cleaned off my car. He is quick and thorough, I try to get him to slow down, though. Anyone shoveling makes me a bit uneasy.

Vera Cross and Charlotte Cole visited Ledgeview Tuesday afternoon, and Charlotte sang and played for people there. From January 1994 to January 1995, Charlotte had played and sang 140 times, which includes six nursing homes. This figure also includes churches, organizations, and shut-ins.

Ellen Cole returned home Tuesday after being hospitalized for lung problems since Christmas Day. We all wish her a speedy and complete recovery.

Charlie and Jeannette Knight of Greenwood spent Christmas Day with Marianne and Les Gamma of East Waterford. Also visiting were the Knights' grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Bruce Campbell and wife Jennifer and their new son, born Sept. 29; Brandon Frederick of Norway; Darlene Henderson of Norway, with sons Christopher and Mark; Dianne Campbell of East Waterford and fiancé Shane Slicer of Oxford.

Charlotte Cole recently visited Becky Ricker and Verna Swan, at their home in Bryant Pond, and Ruth Tyler.

The town offers its sincere sympathy to the family of Helen French, former resident of this town who died Tuesday at Ledgeview Nursing Home, West Paris.

This pup I have formerly belonged to the Henley children on the hill, and Thursday evening they visited him. He was so happy to see them and play with them. They brought him a ball and some rawhide chews.

The Universalist Church Board of Management met on Monday evening at the home of Beverly Stevens. The finance committee is making plans to hold a rummage and food sale on Saturday, Feb. 18, so be saving your rummage. The next board meeting will be held on Feb. 13 with Nick and Marta Clements.

Forward Fellowship will have a potluck supper and meeting at Goodwill Hall on Monday evening, Jan. 23. A silent auction will be held after the meeting.

The West Paris Historical Society will sponsor a public supper on Jan. 28 at the society building. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. Price of the supper will be $5 and $2.50 for those 12 and under.

Much heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family of John Betts, who passed away on Wednesday, Jan. 11.

Howdy, folks. Well I'm back after being sick for about 10 days with some kind of an intestinal virus or flu. I didn't know whether I was going to live or die, but I decided to live on a little while longer.

Jan. 4 was sister Viva's 70th birthday, but I'm sure she didn't realize it was her birthday. Because I was sick we didn't get down to see her.

Wednesday evening, Peggy and I visited the Richard Felt family.

Last Thursday was a very cold day. Neither Peggy nor I felt well, so we didn't attend West Paris Grange in the evening. Peggy had made a pie to help with the refreshments and Earl and Amy Andrews called for that on their way to the Grange Hall.

I have been reminded to tell you that the West Paris School would appreciate having you save your Campbell Soup labels for them. Recent visitors at the Lovejoy home have been Jay and Chris Whittemore from Oxford.

There will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on Jan. 21, with music furnished by the Richard Felt Orchestra. This dance will help the Sportsman Club.

Oxford Pomona Grange will meet at Oxford Grange Hall on Feb. 7. There will be a 6:30 supper preceding the meeting.

Ben Conant of South Paris has donated a book, "Minerals, Metals and Gems," to the society. The book was written by a former resident of Greenwood, Addison Verrill, who had lived on Patch

Refreshments were brought and served by Joan Kimball, and Joyce Hathaway is to furnish refreshments for the February meeting. Jeffrey L. Weeks will be the speaker at the February meeting.

Many gift/memorial books have been added to the library recently. In memory of Eva Chapman and Helen C. Berry, Francis and Mary Lou Berry gave the library "Irish Gold" by Greeley. Elinor Mitchell gave a new copy of "Stuart Little" in honor of Lindsey Redgate's first birthday. Harold and Monique Rolfe gave "Giants In The Land" by Diana Applebaum in memory of Mary Corkum.

Church will be held on Feb. 5 instead of Feb. 19, at 4 p.m. at the Bohrs' on 38 Chapman Street in Bethel. For more information call 824-2913.

The drawings and watercolors of Michigan artist Kristin Hurlin will be displayed at Gould Academy's Owen Art Gallery through March 3. The show begins with a gallery opening on Friday, Jan. 20, from 7 to 9 p.m.

An almost entirely self-taught artist, Hurlin has been drawing virtually all of her life. At age 10 she began ink drawing, and also began on her own to study the Renaissance masters. By the time she was 15, she had already started, on a small scale, her career in commercial illustrating, taking commissions from local bands for posters, as well as other odd jobs. Although she supported herself throughout her 20s with manufacturing and sales jobs, she continued to draw and paint and "kept the art as an expression of the heart." For the past 10 years, she says, she has been "drawing for a paycheck." Her freelance illustration work has been seen in Woman's Day magazine, on recipe cards, and on the catalog covers of a Michigan-based mail-order gourmet foods company.

"Freelance illustration is a great job to have," says Hurlin. "I can be home with my children, work my own hours, have low overhead, live in a rural area but work nationally, and make $50 an hour in a tiny village where most jobs are minimum wage." There are negative aspects as well, however: "always working alone ... pushing yourself to keep at it, not wandering off to do housework, or yard work." The lack of a steady income can be stressful at times as well. "I can go three months without work, then suddenly five jobs come in, all due at once."

Hurlin's color work consists of ink drawings painstakingly colored in with watercolors, an extremely labor-intensive process. Much of her work reflects the changing seasons in her rural Michigan, and is detailed and clear, lending itself well to reproduction. Her colored drawings have been used for note cards and calendars, in addition to the catalog illustrations. "I think of all this freelance illustration as training -- leading to more heartfelt outpourings in the future."

The Owen Art Gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. For weekend hours or for more information, call 824-7700. There is no charge for admittance.

White Mountain National Forest
Town of Gilead
Oxford County, Maine

The White Mountain National Forest is beginning the environmental analysis process for a proposed snowmobile trail in the vicinity of Gilead, Maine just South of Route 2. Approximately 3 miles of trail would be constructed or reconstructed with some portions on existing roads. Trail work would consist of improving existing drainage structures, installing a few culverts, removing some trees and improving the trail grade and surface. This trail would provide a needed link between Route 2 and the Maine ITS 80 trail system to the South. There is potential for connecting this trail to the New Hampshire Corridor 19 trail system to the West. For more information please contact Gary Davis, Evans Notch Ranger District, 18 Mayville Road, Bethel, Maine 04217 or call (207) 824-2134 (voice) or 207-824-3312 (TTY). You never said "I'm leaving"
